Forecast for Tuesday 05 Sep 2023

Weather: Dry and sunny with mostly blue skies from dawn until dusk, although some high cloud is likely during the morning, with just the very small chance of a spot of rain. Feeling very warm through the middle of the day in shelter from the brisk easterly winds.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 100%.

Low cloud and visibility: Any cloud is expected to remain well above all summits throughout. Generally good visibility but distant hills and landmarks will appear hazy.

Meteorologist's View

Gusty winds through the morning in particular with local gusts of over 40 mph possible, not just over the summits, but also to some lower levels. High levels of UV are likely through the midday hours, so sun protection and adequate hydration vital despite the wind taking the edge off the temperatures at height.

Forecast for Wednesday 06 Sep 2023

Weather: Any early low cloud or fog will soon clear to leave another largely fine day with hazy sunshine. A slight chance of isolated showers spreading up from the south by the evening. Much lighter winds than on Tuesday.

Maximum wind: Southerly 5-10 mph.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops 600m: 80% becoming 95% or more.

Low cloud and visibility: Patchy low cloud and some fog in valleys first thing will give some locally very poor visibility until mid-morning. Thereafter generally good visibilities though once again fairly hazy.

Temperature: Valleys: Plus 14 Celsius rising to plus 29 Celsius.
At 600m: Plus 17 Celsius rising to plus 23 Celsius.
Freezing level: Well above the summits.
